DIRECTIONS:
1. Put butter in a pot, medium heat to melt.
2. Add the milk, sugar and cocoa powder to the butter, continue with medium heat, stirring constantly (the original recipe also indicated to add a pinch of salt but I like to avoid this whenever possible so don’t include in my version).
3. Once the mixture has been brought to a full boil, let it continue boiling for 1 full minute, stirring constantly.
4. Remove from heat and add the vanilla.
5. Add the oatmeal and coconut, stirring to coat completely.
6. Use a teaspoon to size the cookies, spooning the mixture on either wax or parchment paper.
7. Allow to cool. ENJOY!

Chocolate & Coconut Cookies
or ..... “SPIDER” Cookies

There is a wonderful bakery in Hunter River, PEI, which I learned about when in PEI to meet with the folks at IWMC and the ADI PEI Compost Facility. Many a trip involved a stop there to load up before getting on the homeward bound plane ... with these being one of the cookies bought.

My Mom’s PEI friend, Pearl, called them SPIDER COOKIES.

I was thrilled to find this recipe in a community cookbook created by the employees of Hayes Dana, hoping that it might be similar to the ones from PEI. It is now a staple, no-bake cookie served at our community events, with one of the most recent being the celebration of our lease-signing ceremony at Highfield Farm in Calgary.

½ cup butter
(do not use margarine as a substitute)
½ cup milk
1½ cup white sugar
(the original recipe calls for 2 cups of sugar; I didn’t think it needed to be so sweet)
6 tbsp cocoa powder
1 tsp vanilla
3 cups oatmeal
1 cup coconut flakes

½ cup butter
(½ cup butter (do not use margarine as a substitute)
½ cup milk
1½ cup white sugar
(the original recipe calls for 2 cups of sugar; I didn’t think it needed to be so sweet)
6 tbsp cocoa powder
1 tsp vanilla
3 cups oatmeal
1 cup coconut flakes

DIRECTIONS:
1. Put butter in a pot, medium heat to melt.
2. Add the milk, sugar and cocoa powder to the butter, continue with medium heat, stirring constantly (the original recipe also indicated to add a pinch of salt but I like to avoid this whenever possible so don’t include in my version).
3. Once the mixture has been brought to a full boil, let it continue boiling for 1 full minute, stirring constantly.
4. Remove from heat and add the vanilla.
5. Add the oatmeal and coconut, stirring to coat completely.
6. Use a teaspoon to size the cookies, spooning the mixture on either wax or parchment paper.
7. Allow to cool. ENJOY!